VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 1, 1867. NO. 199.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

MR. WEED'S INTRODUCTORY.

From the New York Times.

Mr. Thurlow Weed announces his purpose to assume editorial control of the Commercial Advertiser in Tuesday's issue of that paper. His "introductory" fills four and a half of its ample columns. It is a most able and interesting statement of the condition and dangers of the country, as Mr. Weed views them, and of the successive steps by which we have been led into them, accompanied by a resume of the leading acts and incidents of his own political life, given for the purpose of showing more clearly the political principles he has always advocated, and which he intends to advocate still.

Mr. Weed says:

"When, in 1862, I retired from editorial life, the circumstances which now prompt a return to the duties of journalism were neither foreseen nor anticipated. The vital questions now in issue awaken deep emotion, creating a desire to participate in their discussion. The habit of political communion with the people, originating early, continued through half a century, and the temptation returns with every rising sun. The ordeal through which our country is passing is trying the fortitude of the people and testing the strength of the Government.—Like the ocean, upheaved by tempests, the country is surging and seething under the influence of excited passion. The strain of angry elements upon the shivering timbers, groaning masts, and torn canvas of the ship of State, causes intense solicitude among the passengers, and imposes stern duties upon the officers and crew. We are in the second phase of rebellion—a phase, in some of its aspects, more alarming than the first; for the dangers are insidious and plausible, rather than open and defiant. Then we encountered enemies in the field. Now we are dealing with internal animosities and ambitions. * * * * * *

I resume duties from which I had intended a permanent withdrawal, with great diffidence and distrust. Though reasonably familiar with journalism when in the harness, things have several years the start of me now, and whether, considering the disadvantage in years, I can catch up with events, and assist in giving shape to them, remains to be seen. While in the field, I had my share of readers; but two generations have passed away, and a third is rising to manhood since I commenced editorial life. I know that in all respects the world goes faster, and requires warmer blood and fresher thoughts than were needed before rails and wires, invested with attributes supposed to belong only to omniscient power and wisdom, trifle and toy with time and distance. But age, if moderately benefitted by experience and observation, may impart something of interest and usefulness to the columns of a newspaper.—And inspired with that hope, I am about to try and do a little good in helping the people and the country out of their complications—complications unnecessarily aggravated by passion and ambition. Wars, in other times and countries, have been succeeded by pestilence and famine. But we are providentially exempted from these visitations. The nation's health and harvests have been perfect and bountiful. Our evils are self-created. We are scourging ourselves. The problem for solution is: How long will the people permit representatives to practice and speculate upon their confidence and patriotism? "Truth is mighty," and will ultimately prevail. But time is precious. Every lost day and hour adds fearfully to the ruin and wrongs that misrule entails upon the people and country.

But enough of this. My excuse for indulging in such reminiscences is, that those who impugn my fidelity to principle may see that they must present a formidable list of political delinquences before they will be able, in adjusting the account, to find a balance against me. I was hard at work on the weak but the right side, against strength and wrong, years before secret "Loyal Leagues," or those who manipulate them, were invented—an invention which bodes no good to the country, for from the time Washington, at the close of the Revolutionary war, warned his countrymen against political "secret societies," nothing but mischief and evil has come of them. Republicanism is open and frank, seeking by directness and honesty to win its way. Those who have sinister and selfish purposes to accomplish prefer dark and devious ways.

The journals with which I have heretofore been connected have commended themselves to the homes and hearths of the people. In selections, as in editorials, my study was to amuse and interest, to instruct and improve. Of humble origin, my sympathies have been and are with the laboring classes. Though a leveller, my desire is to raise the poor up instead of bringing the rich down. The future of the Commercial, therefore, in its general aspects, will reflect its past, with perhaps, a single qualification. I have ever held the opinion, which is still cherished, that while capital takes care of itself, labor needs reasonable protection.

THURLOW WEED.

MARYLAND—RADICAL MOVEMENTS—MR. BROOKS' SPEECH.

The committee of the Maryland Radical Convention called on Speaker Colfax and Vice-President Wade on Thursday, and were encouraged to proceed in their opposition to the legal authorities of the State. A Mr. Rogers has prepared a bill of injunction to prevent the proper officers from holding an election for a Convention. Mr. Colfax was severely handled by several members for having such stuff as the proceedings of a Radical meeting read to the House.

"Mr. Brooks remarked that if he had not, long since, adopted the Horatian maxim of nil admirari, he would have been astonished at the extraordinary presentation of a partisan memorial in this House, and at the still more extraordinary speech of the gentleman from Maryland against his own State constitution. Mr. B. proceeded to show that the same inequality of representation existed in the States of Maine and Connecticut; that by the gerrymandering process in Pennsylvania and other States the majority was cheated of its representation; and that real republican forms of government existed in no State. As to Tennessee and Missouri, there was no more republicanism there than there existed under the Pashalic of Egypt or the Sultan of Turkey. There was no republicanism represented even in the Senate of the United States. It was a body existing in utter defiance of all republican forms of government; and he expected the gentleman from Maryland, (Mr. Thomas,) when he had succeeded in reforming the affairs of his own State, to introduce a proposition to abolish the United States Senate. The State of Nebraska, with a population not one-fifth the number that are found every day under ground in the First Ward of the city of New York, attending to their daily business, had an equal representation in the Senate with Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. The proposition of the gentleman from Maryland would amount to an overthrow and subversion of the whole structure of the government, a consolidation and despotism of the worst kind, utterly repugnant to the whole idea of the founders of the Republic."

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 1, 1867.

THE UNION PARTY.

There was a time, in the history of the country, when there was much power in a party name—when the words Whig and Democrat seemed to have a spell more potent than any other influence. Those days have passed in the South, perhaps never again to return; at least, with similar results. It is denied that we have legal or ganic existence or that we are a body politic. Hence, it would seem impertinent in us to adopt platforms and party names, and electioneering trumpery, as if we were a people, having rights!

We have thought that the people of the South, being common sufferers, subjects of a common destiny, and inspired by common interests and hopes, in regard to political affiliations and party names, ought to have a common feeling and a common purpose.—We have seen no propriety in any other party designation since the war, except that of the Union party. None other so properly designates and describes the popular feeling and anxieties of the South since the war, as that—none seemed so likely to be accepted by the North as a true exponent of the feelings of our masses. Had the anxieties of the South in this regard been met, by an early adjustment of the difficulties growing out of the sectional war which has passed, it is probable the Union party would have been the only party designation known in the South for the next fourth of a century.

So far as we are concerned, it is the only party designation we want now. We can see no necessity for any other, and we believe no other can so well harmonize our own people among themselves and unite them to the North and to the government. It may be that there if a chance for the display of more demagoguery in other names, more mere partizanry and political trickery, but these things are just what the South should steer clear of until Union is first effected. Indeed, it would greatly tend to the harmony and prosperity of the country, if the objects of the Union alone formed the foundation of all parties hereafter.

We fear that the objects of reconstruction are, after all, to be defeated, by the hot-haste of the old party hacks to revive their party machinery and excite a furor over the first efforts at reconstruction. There is an evident encouragement to this course, by the partizans of the political parties at the North. Radical, Conservative Republican and Democratic are all, no doubt, anxiously looking out for the formation of political parties in the South with similar designations. But immoderate haste in this regard, on our part, may be seriously embarrassing. The term Republican, as applied to the great dominant party, has nearly lost its specific quality in designating that party. The divisions or distinctive principles of the two wings of that party are almost as strongly marked as if they had no affiliation. They are still held together by the cohesive power of old party feeling and interest, yet the breach is becoming wider and wider. Radical and Union better designate the principles and purposes of the divisions of the Republican party than any other words. And we think between these two the South must prefer the latter.

Our true policy, however, is plainly to stand aloof from party affiliations until reconstruction has been effected. The party at the North which does most to effect a reunion of the States, and which accomplishes that object with the least damage to the South, will have the strongest claim upon our affiliation and support. Our people can be brought to rally to the support of that party soonest, which accomplishes the Union soonest and most to our advantage. At present, the conservative or real Union Republicans have evidently the inside track, and may perhaps be regarded as the strongest power in the government. Party success and party power, after all, seem to be the great objects of parties; while the great aims of the Southern people should be the peace and prosperity of the country.

POINT OF ORDER.—The unwritten history of the late Holdenite meeting in this City is racy in the extreme. Could we have anticipated the many rich things that are said to have occurred, we should, at any expense, have endeavored to procure a minute report of its sayings and doings. The report in the Standard is all rose-colored, of course; entire harmony, propriety and smoothness. But we hear of several instances where the white leaders were considerably ruffled.—One of the most notable instances of such "comb-cutting," was when Capt. Settle (late C. S. A.) and, perhaps, others, were graciously vaunting their willingness to concede to the colored people the right of suffrage, &c. In the midst of these buncombe protestations, a colored delegate stepped forward and suggested that it would be well for the gentleman to confine themselves to the business properly before the Convention. The colored people asked no concession. The right of suffrage was already guaranteed to them by the terms of the Sherman Act—and so on to the same effect. The white folks willed.

HOLLYWOOD BAZAAR.—A lady correspondent from Richmond (herself a North Carolinian) invokes the people of the State to send contributions to the Hollywood Bazaar to be held the present month. We trust that her patriotic appeals will be promptly responded to. We take pleasure in stating that the ladies of this City, belonging to the Memorial Sewing Society, have prepared a large box of valuable articles which will be forwarded at once, and will prove a handsome donation.

DESTITUTION IN NORTH CAROLINA.

So far as we have been able to learn, there is but one portion of the State actually destitute of food. Union, Stanly, and Anson counties are really in a needy and suffering condition, and perhaps the extent of their necessities is to the ratio in which we have placed them. If there is real destitution and want, elsewhere, we have not heard of it, and we beg any of our readers, if they know of its existence, that they will not be slow to communicate it to us, that it may be laid before the public.

Col. Covington's letter, from Union County, to Gov. Worth, which we publish to-day, may be relied upon as a faithful account of the state of things in that County. The people there demand relief and must have it. More than a month ago, Gov. Worth and Col. Bomford ordered that 1,000 of the 3,000 bushels of corn sent from N. York to this State for distribution, be sent at once to Union County. It was ordered to be sent by Railroad to Charlotte. It ought to have been at Charlotte two or three weeks ago, but the Governor has just learned, with surprise, that the corn has not been forwarded. The neglect of the Agents or the Railroad is criminal in this matter. How they can, with any propriety, or for any cause, delay in this matter, when our own fellow-citizens are starving for bread, is unaccountable. We beg to call the special attention of the Presidents of the Wilmington & Weldon and North Carolina Railroads to this matter.—Let the corn be forwarded at once with a further supply for that County, Stanly, &c.

But there is another point in this matter. Our people are all more or less needy, but in many portions of the State there is bread and to spare. Why is it, that our people in many of the Counties, where there is corn to spare, have been deaf to the calls of hunger? With the exception of Newbern and Craven, and, perhaps, Wilmington, we have heard of no effort to help. This was extended to South Carolina. Why not, in all the Counties where there is a surplus of corn, form associations for the procurement and forwarding of corn and provisions for the destitute? Why not raise subscriptions in money in every County, where there is no surplus of corn, to aid in this matter? Our own people in Union and other Counties are suffering, and our sister State, South Carolina, is experiencing a state of destitution never before known in this country.

UNION COUNTY.

We are indebted to the politeness of Gov. Worth for the following letter from Col. Covington, showing the destitution in Union County. We hope it may have its proper weight upon the public mind.

MONROE, UNION COUNTY, N. C., March 27th, 1867.

To His Excellency, Jonathan Worth, Governor of N. C.:

MY DEAR SIR:—I write to inform you of the great scarcity of bread-stuffs, the general destitution, and the prospects of immediate starvation, with many citizens, both white and colored, of this County. Almost daily, since my return home from Raleigh, have I [illegible] complaints and painful stories in relation to their prospects for bread. Many of them industrious and good citizens, and who have heretofore lived well, but who, on account of the unprecedented drought of last year, the scarcity of money, and the rigid cash system that is now applied to all, are unable to help themselves. On yesterday I met with a poor widow who said she had seven children, and had not bread enough for herself and family a week, and was unable to purchase, and knew not how she would obtain assistance; and to-day a young woman, whose mother is a widow with six or seven children, came to my house and informed me that her mother had notified the children that they must leave home and get in where they could; that they had not bread enough to last them the balance of this week. To stay at home, starvation was, with them, inevitable. I know this family well; they are industrious and frugal, and heretofore have been well to do. The young woman applied for a home at my house, but having taken in others, in a similar condition, I had no room for her. I instance these two cases to give you some idea of the condition of hundreds of people, if not thousands, in this county. Continually I see flocking to town people from various parts of the county, applying for their moiety of the corn generously apportioned to this county by yourself and Col Bomford, from the donation of those ministering angels, the benevolent ladies of the city of New York, and I hereby take the, liberty, in behalf of the suffering fellow citizens of my county, to tender to them, through you and the Commander of the military Post at Raleigh, our grateful acknowledgements for the same. I will state in this connexion, however, that the corn has not yet reached our county; it may be in Charlotte, but of that I am not certain.

I learn from the newspapers that the Congress of the United States has appropriated a million of dollars for the relief of the South, and I also learn from the public prints that various other large amounts, at different places North, have been made up and donated to the relief of indigent persons in the Southern States. I deem it unnecessary to make any further appeal to you in behalf of the people of my County, in the distribution of the appropriation from Congress, and the donations alluded to, for I know, if you have any voice in the matter, the people of this County will be remembered; and in conclusion, allow me to beg that you will use your influence to expedite the relief as much as possible.

I might have added, the destitution and suffering in this County is not confined to any particular neighborhood, but exists in every neighborhood. Those who were once wealthy, and are now the best off, are unable to give relief. Even the paupers in the Poor-House can scarcely be provided for.

I am, dear Sir, truly yours,
D. A. COVINGTON.

"The Radicals are already abusing the negroes whom they cannot use. Beverly Nash, the negro who spoke such good sense at the Columbia, S. C., meeting, is already calumniated by Forney as the mere tool of party, not representing his race."—New York World.

Just so. The Standard has done the same thing. The "Southern Loyalists", so called, will all do the same thing. They only care for the colored man as they may be able to use him, to subserve their own unhallowed purposes. When they find that they cannot thus use him, they will abuse, desert, and if possible destroy him.

TONE OF THE STATE PRESS

We make the following extracts from our State contemporaries relative to the late Holdenite meeting in this City. They speak for themselves, and we give them simply in order to show the tone of public sentiment:

From the Wilmington Journal.

As Gen. Dockery, for his elevated position, [as chairman] glanced at the men who composed this meeting he must have been struck with the entire absence of his old party friends; and as his eye sought in vain for such campers as Graham, Manly, Waddell, J. T. Morehead, Outlaw, Gilmer, Ashe, Smith, Gaither, and others, who had with him sustained so long and with such credit, the destinies of a great party, possibly his cheek paled for a moment, for "conscience doth make cowards of us all."

And we will be excused from expressing a regret at the presence of a friend, [Col. D. M. Carter, who was a Judge in one of the Military Courts in the U. S. A.] and confess a "blissful ignorance" why one so gallant, so generous, so accomplished, could lend himself to this ignoble purpose. We hope the gallant soldier—and upright Judge was not troubled with the aching of an outraged heart, nor suffered from the lingering effects of an honorable wound; and while drafting the resolutions endorsing the legislation of Congress, and approving the disfranchisement of his honorable comrades in arms, we trust he was not disturbed by the ghosts of others, who, by his finding, fill dishonored graves.

As a political body, this meeting represented nothing, or rather the sediments of everything; whigs and democrats, know-nothings and foreigners, secessionists and unionists, whites and blacks; its leaders, consistent in the past in nothing but office-seeking, with no present bond of union but a desire to hold office, and with no common sympathy for the future but a hope to obtain office, alike only in the unanimity with which the people have rejected their aspirations.

"Black spirits and white,
Red spirits and gray;
Mingle, mingle, mingle,
You that mingle may."

From the Wilson Carolinian.

The "Harris—Holden—Conspiracy" met in Raleigh on Wednesday, and perfected the preliminary organization necessary to a consummation of their schemes. All was "harmony and enthusiasm." The colored people comprising the meeting are generally regarded as very respectable persons, but their present associates are not like to improve their morals to any extent. We trust the colored gentlemen will insist upon that respect and deference from their inferiors, always due the superior. Possibly these respectable negroes may restrain their white confreres, and prevent them from playing the political devil with the colored people of the State; otherwise the interests of this class are in serious danger of destruction."

From the Weldon State.

"It is a curious age we live in, and certainly the rarest curiosity lately presented to the Southern mind, is the mongrel Convention now in session in the city of Raleigh. There we see organized, under the vigilant direction of a disappointed politician, a set of unprincipled men, congregated for the purposes of vengeance, and reveling in the misfortunes of a ruined people. From all parts of our State they have assembled, the self sold and soul hired traitors whose bosoms never cherished one generous feeling, and whose pulses never yet throbbed with one patriotic emotion."

From the North-caste

"While we cannot endorse the resolutions as a whole, we yet rejoice that they are as free from objections as they are. We had feared, from the givings out in certain quarters, that a test oath for voters would be proposed as one of the provisions which the party would endeavor to incorporate into the new State Constitution. We are unalterably opposed to the disfranchisement of any of our people at the ballot box, because of their participation in the late war, and we apprehended some danger of a division of our people on that question. We now hope, from the silence of this meeting on the subject, that nothing of the kind is contemplated, though we would much have preferred that it should have passed resolutions against it. We may possibly recur to this meeting again."

THE Lynchburg News argues forcibly the whole question of colored suffrage. It arrives at the same conclusion to which all reflecting men must come, that should the black population, under the insidious influences to which they have been and are being subjected, attempt to array themselves as a class against the whites, (by which we mean that nine-tenths of the white race who have no sympathy with the despicable faction that constitute the other tenth,) they will only hurt themselves by the action, as, in Virginia and North Carolina, at least, the genuine "white" element is largely predominant. Says the News, in addition:

"It, therefore, becomes the duty of every one, who is not disfranchised, to come forward and register, whenever notice is given by the military commander to that effect.—They will thus secure to themselves the privilege of voting, whether they choose to exercise the privilege or not; Neglecting or refusing to register will only place it out of our power to control or participate in the election, and would, in no way, improve our position. The most sensitive regard for honor cannot be affected by registration, or by taking the registration oath. Let every one, then, make up his mind to do his whole duty in this particular, and, also, in regard to another matter of equal importance, viz: the exertion of all his influence over the colored vote."

"EQUALITY,"—VERITABLE INCIDENT.—Scene, Fayetteville Street. A group of colored voters are discussing the incidents and speeches of the late Holdenite meeting. Animated opinion of chief spokesman: "Cordin to my notion, dat fellow Settle made de foremost talk of any ob 'em."

REGISTRATION IN VIRGINIA—THE CONVENTION, &c.

The Richmond correspondent of the New York Times, whose means of obtaining reliable information are not known to us, makes in his last letter the following statement, which we hope may prove to be true:

"I am informed that it is the intention of General Schofield to take immediate steps in the way of the registration of voters, as provided by the supplementary reconstruction bill. It is thought the Convention will assemble in June, and if so, all the action necessary to the admission of representatives to Congress will be had in time for the next winter session. That consummation is devoutly wished for, as the only means of restoring public confidence, and reviving the trade of the country now so utterly prostrate."

PROVINCE OF ESPIRITO SANTO.

Proceeding South from Bahia, the next Province on the coast is that of Espirito Santo. This is one the smaller Provinces, and, though lying contiguous to that of Rio de Janeiro, it is perhaps the most backward in development of all the sea coast Provinces. This is owing more to the want of the facilities of communication, and good harbors and shipping ports in the Province, than to the character of its soil.

It lies between latitudes 18 and 22 degrees, South, and has an area of about 22,400 square miles, or nearly the size of South Carolina. In the Northern and Southern portions the surface is hilly and broken, the principal product being coffee; but the middle portions are mostly level, producing sugar, rice, &c. The soil is generally fertile. The climate, away from the rivers, is healthy and pleasant, though damp along the seacoast. In this Province we begin to leave the periodical rains, and distinctly defined wet and dry seasons of the more equatorial regions. Here the rains are distributed more uniformly throughout the year, though it falls more abundantly and frequently in the summer months.

The chief products are coffee, sugar, corn, rice, and mandioca, besides the usual tropical fruits and productions, and medicinal plants, dye woods, cabinet woods, &c. The Province has no foreign trade, its products being sent to the city of Rio. Its population is about 55,000, of which 10,000 are slaves. Its Capital is Victoria, having a population of about 6,000. There are in the Province one Lyceum and fifty-one primary schools.

PROVINCE OF RIO DE JANEIRO.

We must not confound the province with the City and district of Rio de Janeiro. The City of Rio is the Capital of the Empire, and is situated in a district, surrounding it, of about 960 square miles, which, like the District of Columbia, in the United States, is distinct from the Province, and governed by laws and regulations passed by the Imperial Assembly or Congress. The Province of Rio lies between 21 and 23 deg. South latitude, and, exclusive of the District, has an area of about 38,400 square miles. The surface is broken and mountainous, and intersected by numerous rivers, all of which, however, except the Parahiba, which runs through its northern or eastern end, are small and but little navigable. The soil is very fertile, and, in proportion to its size, this Province is perhaps the largest coffee producing region of the Empire. The climate is temperate, pleasant and exceedingly healthful. The thermometrical tables, given in a former letter, were those of this Province and the City of Rio. All kinds of temperate and tropical productions may be raised here. Besides coffee, its chief products are cotton, sugar, tobacco, rice, &c.—In 1860, the value of the coffee produced in this Province amounted to $28,302,610. In the same year there were 98 sugar estates, which yielded 21,424 tons of sugar, valued at $2,150,000. The population is about 850,000, of which about 200,000 are slaves.

The shipping port of the Province is the City of Rio, but the exports of the city are no criterion by which to judge of the productions of the Province, since all of the products of Espirito Santo and Minas, and much of those of the Province of St. Paulo, are exported from this city. The capital of the Province proper is Nitheroby, or Praia, a small town on the East side of the Bay, and opposite the city of Rio.

In the Province there are, for education, one hundred and sixty-four public free schools, forty seven private colleges, and over two hundred private schools.

As the city and District of Rio, the seat of the Imperial government, is located within this Province, it might be expected that I should give some description of it; but as I am not writing a picturesque account of Brazil, and as our people will not likely be inclined to settle in the large cities, such a description would be more entertaining than useful. I will therefore only mention that it is a large city of over 400,000 inhabitants, being the third city of the Western hemisphere, and, in size, next to New York and Philadelphia. Its chief inhabitants are noted for their polished culture and refinement. Its harbor is one of the most accessible, capacious and secure in the world. The magnificent beauty of its bay and its picturesque scenery are world-renowned, and can only be compared with those of Naples, it being a still disputed point among travellers whether, in these respects, it does not surpass the latter.

From this city branch, as I have already stated, three important Railroads. The first and shortest is that from Mana, on the bay above Rio, to the foot of the mountains on which stands the town of Petropolis. It is yet only about ten miles long. Petropolis, and its vicinity, about 3000 feet above the level of the sea, are the principal Summer resort and rural residence of the wealthy inhabitants of Rio during the Summer months. From this town a turnpike now leads to Floras, in the interior Province of Minas. The second Railroad is that from the upper end of the bay to Cantagallo. Only about 28 miles of it have yet been finished. It is intended to open up the lower valley of the Parahiba river. The third and most important Railroad is that of Don Pedro II. At present it extends only to the town of Parahiba, in the upper end of the Parahiba valley, and distant from Rio about 170 miles. It will, however, eventually be carried through the midst of the rich and important Province of Minas, and into the great valley of the San Francisco.

At Petropolis is located a German colony now comprising some 10,000 individuals, established by the government. In the vicinity of this town and also in the Northern end of the Province, North of the river Parahiba, as well as in the Southern end of the Province of Espirito Santo, are some of the best coffee lands in the Empire, and which the government are offering to emigrants for settlement. They do not, however, seem to be in sufficiently large bodies to suit the views of the agents sent out by the many emigration associations of our people, though they are pre-eminent for fertility of soil, picturesque beauty of location, and salubrity of climate. It is believed that small parties of emigrants, composed of a few families of relations or friends, would find in this region homes that would suit them in all repects; and the internal improvements, now in progress, will in a short time make such settlements most valuable as well as pleasant and convenient.

The Maine legislature seems to have had some remarkable experiences during the closing of its late session. The Augusta papers tell how the House of Representatives suspended all operations to sing the John Brown chorus, under the leadership of one of its members, and afterwards made an assault on the Senate, each man armed with bullets rolled from all the scraps of waste paper he could collect. The Senate repelled the attack, and after an indiscriminate fight, both houses separated and returned to their work.

THOUSANDS OF WHITE SWANS.—We learn that white swans are to be found on the lower Potomac at this time by the thousand. A gentleman living near the river told us that he had, on more than one occasion, risen during the night and fired into them to scatter the flock in order that he might get to sleep—they having kept up such a jabbering as wholly to prevent repose.—Fredericksburg Herald.

Weak doses of washboard are now recommended to ladies who complain of dyspepsia. Young men troubled in the same way may be cured by a strong preparation of woodsaw.

FERTILIZERS
FOR SPRING CROPS.
WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.
We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 325 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 PARTS CONSIST OF

Moisture	3.5
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	30.0
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	33.5
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	15.5
Salts	2
Insoluble	3.5
	99.5

The animal matter afforded 4 3-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.
After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you mean to the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,
A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

THE SENTINEL.

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 1, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Mitchell, Allen & Co. make their usual daily announcement.

Pulliam, Jones & Co. offer a No. 1 Soda Fountain for sale.

J. Brown (with Hart & Lewis) offers small Cooking Stoves for small families.

M. Rosenbaum is in daily receipt of extensive importations of seasonable and fashionable goods. See his announcements in another column.

THE THALIAN ASSOCIATION.—The second entertainment of this Association will take place to-night, at Cooke's Hotel. We have heretofore mentioned the first as being spoken of in favorable terms. Those of our people who may attend will doubtless pass a pleasant evening.

MAYOR'S COURT.—Norman Allen (colored) was up for an assault upon Victoria Adkins (colored.) Fined $5.

George Phillips was fined $10 for an assault upon James Rogers.

TAXES.—The Mayor commences, to-day, taking the tax lists for the present year.—Persons failing to list are liable to a double tax.

MATCH GAME.—The Match Game between the University and Crescent Base Ball Clubs, for the Champion Ball of the State, will be played on the grounds of the former, at Chapel Hill, on Friday next, April 5th.

The Crescents leave Raleigh for the Hill on the train, Friday morning, and persons desiring to witness the game will be permitted to go up to the Hill and return for half fare on the Railroad. The following constitute the "First Nine" of each club:

University.—J. C. Webb, F. Hargrave, W. S. Battle, I. Smith, J. G. Young, S. Barbee, R. S. Jefferson, Alex. Graham and J. Rieves.

Crescent.—S. C. White, B. C. Manly, W. A. B. Branch, G. H. Snow, Jno. Blake, B. W. Starke, A Phillips, S. G. Ryan and C. M. Busbee.

SOMETHING GOOD.—Our enterprising friend, B. P. Williamson, of the firm of B. P. Williamson & Co., has just returned from the North, and announces, as arriving, any quantity of Western Sides, choice Virginia Hams and Sides, Canvass Hams, and prime leaf Lard, in kegs and barrels. Also, Halifax Herrings of the very best quality. We refer to the advertisements in another column. In addition to the foregoing, we are informed that this firm have now on the way here a large, select, and well assorted stock of Hardware, Fancy Goods, Domestics, Notions, &c., which, we are assured, are admirably adapted for this market, and will give general satisfaction.

THE CHRISTIAN Advocate says that the Rev. Marquis L. Wood, after a voyage of more than than one hundred days, from Shanghai, arrived in New York on the 20th ult. Mr. Wood has been a Missionary in China for several years. He will return to this State, of which he is a native, in a few days, "to place his motherless children in care of some of his friends."

THE LATE DR. PHILLIPS.—A correspondent of the North Carolina Presbyterian (whom we take to be the distinuished head of the University,) furnishes that paper an interesting memoir of the late lamented Prof. Phillips. Among other things, the writer says:

"Without entering further into the delineation of his character, which will receive a more elaborate survey than I have at present time or disposition to make, I may mention that among numerous testimonials to the value and efficiency of his method of instruction in his own department of science, was a letter from Lieut. Maury, while at the head of the National Observatory. He had successively two of Dr. Phillips' pupils as asistants, and he applied to secure a third as instructor for his own children, stating that he desired them to have the benefit of the same training which had rendered his assistants such ready and accurate mathematicians."

The two pupils referred to in the foregoing extract were Gen. J. Johnston Pettigrew, perhaps the most remarkable mathematical genius the University has ever turned out, and Capt. A. W. Lawrence, of this City, also a gentleman of the finest acquirements in that department of science.

BISHOP ATKINSON preached in the Court House in Washington, on Sunday before last, and confirmed seven persons. He preached to the colored people, in the same place, on Monday evening last, giving them, says the ladies, "such wholesome advice, for which they desire us to extend him their thanks."

INTERVIEW BETWEEN GENERAL SICKLES AND PROMINENT MERCHANTS OF CHARLESTON.

Yesterday at one o'clock the following merchants of this city, W. S. Hastie, Andrew Simonds, George W. Williams, E. W. Marshall, W. G. Whilden, W. L. Trenholm, A. J. Crews, E. Bates, C. T. Dunham, D. F. Fleming, E. J. Dawson, A. H. Hayden, J. B. Steele, R. S. Bruns, M. Strauss, E. Pearson, called upon Gen. Sickles at the Citadel to pay their respects.

Mr. Hastie introduced the other gentlemen present to Gen. Sickles, and, on their behalf addressed him as follows:

General: We have called upon you not in behalf of the citizens generally, but on our own account, to pay our respects to you as Commanding General of this Military District. If it were simply to express my own sentiments it would be a matter of no difficulty, but as I am acting as the exponent of all the gentlemen present, it has been thought best to commit their sentiments to writing, and I take great pleasure in reading them to you as follows:

General: We have to congratulate ourselves that one so well known to our people as yourself, should have been appointed to the command of this Military District.

The whole country, sir, North and South, is suffering in its business relations by reason of the unsettled political status of this section of the Union.

It is our desire, General, and we think we can speak for the great masses of our people, that all dissensions should cease, and every effort be made to restore peace and prosperity to our distracted country.

The wealth of a country is in the amount of labor employed and nothing else. It were vain to levy taxes unless the wealth is produced to pay them. It is the interest of the States, North and South, that every laborer, white and colored, should contribute his share to the general prosperity, and until our political difficulties are settled and the ten Southern States are represented in Congress, credit will continue to languish, and our fields to be but partially cultivated.

We conceive it of the utmost importance to the people of the United States that the labor of the South should be fully and immediately developed.

The production of four million bales of cotton, together with our rice, sugar and tobacco, will at once stimulate every channel of industry, giving employment to our mercantile, marine, railroads and manufactories, and aid in securing the payment of the national debt.

No party feeling should exist towards the Southern States; we are neither sectional nor are we of any party; we can mould our industry to meet any legislation, whether it be the protection of agriculture, commerce or manufactures.

In conclusion, sir, we would say that every effort will be made by ourselves and friends, and we think by the people at large, to sustain our rulers in establishing a representative Government.

Gen. Sickles replied as follows:

Gentlemen: It affords me great satisfaction to receive this visit, and to hear the gratifying sentiments which have been expressed. I feel assured that the citizens generally will do everything in their power to sustain the laws, and to aid me in the discharge of the duties I am to perform. The general interests and prosperity of North and South Carolina have been the object of earnest solicitude since I have been in command in this department, and what I have done in this regard in the past I will continue to do in the future. The solution of the present political difficulties rests with the citizens themselves. The military authorities will not interfere as partizans in political movements or organizations. We will endeavor impartially and fairly to promote the reorganization of the civil government in the two States. Ample protection will be given to life, liberty and property. In conclusion, gentlemen, be assured that I shall always be glad to hear any expression of your sentiments, and to comply with your suggestions so far as it may comport with my sense of duty.

LETTER FROM GOV. PICKENS, S. C.—The following is an extract from a private letter received by a gentleman in this city from Gov. Pickens, of South Carolina:

"You know the desolation of our country has ruined us all, and we are in great poverty. God only knows whether we will be enabled to gather this year's crop, and the policy of the Government forbids all enterprise, and puts it utterly out of our reach to raise any money now on any terms whatever. We would gladly sell half of our lands for support and ready means, but, of course, no one will purchase with the open threat of confiscation standing over our heads, and want and starvation before thousands of our people both black and white. The most cruel part of it is, if possible, the first suffering comes upon the helpless black people, who have been innocent of all blame, and really have acted as well as any people would have done under the circumstances. I really think that most men who own land are struggling now to do all they can do for the support of their former faithful slaves. I know this is my case, and it is what adds greatly to my present embarrassment and cramped means."

It is the fortune of the Southern people to be misrepresented, and never more than now. Their submission to the unconstitutional legislation which has been visited upon them, is represented as approval and approbation. We notice that Forney, in a late letter, claims that this submission to irresistible force settles the question that the Southern States have no legal existence in the contemplation of the constitution, and are not to be counted as among the States. He says:

"The pretext that the constitutional amendment could never be adopted without the votes of the seceded States has been removed by the complete submission of the Southern people to the new act of reconstruction, which practically declares that the rebellion destroyed the old slave States, and that they must be reorganized under Republican forms."

This is like claiming that where a man yields his pocket-book to him who holds a pistol at his head, he confesses that the legitimate right of property is in the robber. —Rich. Enquirer.

The President recently nominated to the Senate of the "United States" Major General Slocum for Naval Officer of New York, and Major General Blair for Minister Resident to Austria. The names of these two gentlemen are household words. While Slocum was fighting in all the battles in which the "Army of the Potomac" was engaged, up to, and inclusive of Chancellorsville, Blair was engaged in the West in the various conflicts that occurred until Grant assumed command as General-in Chief, when Slocum and Blair were brought together and were found marching under Sherman from Chattanooga to Atlanta, and from Atlanta to the sea.

The Senate, on Thursday, strange to say, rejected both for the offices named above.

THE STAY LAW CONSTITUTIONAL.—His Honor Judge Hudson, holding his court at Salem, on Tuesday last pronounced constitutional the act of the General Assembly of Virginia, passed March 2d, 1866, entitled an "act to suspend the collection of debts for a limited period."—Lynchburg Republican.

Monday Morning Dispatches.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 31.

The President submitted to the Senate, on yesterday, a treaty with Russia, granting the sovereignty to the Russian American possessions and the adjacent islands to the United States. The price 7,200,000. This acquisition almost excludes England from the Pacific, and includes valuable fisheries.

A resolution, suspending the rule requiring the return of nominations to the President, at the close of the session, passed. This resolution retains in the Senate the present nominations, which will be considered in extra session.

A committee was appointed to accompany home to Delaware the remains of Senator Riddle, who died yesterday.

After Executive session, the Senate adjourned to July.

In the House, memorials were received from the Mayor and members of the Council of Baltimore, praying for Republican government. Referred to the Judiciary committee.

Mr. Benton introduced a resolution thanking Gen. Sheridan for the Louisiana removals.

Mr. Wood objected, and the resolution was not considered.

The bill, confirming South Carolina tax sales, was referred to the committee on claims.

The Agricultural College bill was extended to Nebraska.

The Speaker announced that all the committees were authorized to sit during recess, without formal authority from the House.

The House filibustered on the Senate appropriation resolutions till twelve, when it adjourned till July.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 31.

The Senate convened in extra session on Monday. It is supposed that it will remain in session two weeks. Many Representatives remain to watch the appointments.

The President is signing the acts, giving Brownlow 10,000 arms and accoutrements, and suspending the payment for enlisted slaves, causes comment. The Chronicle concludes a paragraph thus: "We almost begin to believe that he (the President) is disposed to let Congress alone, and, like a good citizen, to obey his superiors and to teach others to do likewise."

Beverly Johnson places himself squarely against the Maryland Constitutional Convention, ordered by the Legislature of the State.

The cession of Russian America causes considerable excitement and adulation among Californians and others from the far West, and is regarded as a heavy blow to the Kingdom of Canada.

This acquisition had its origin in a petition from the Legislative assembly of Washington Territory, praying the government to secure from Russia such rights as will enable our fishing vessels to visit the ports and harbors of its possession, &c. The memorial is dated January 10th, 1866.

Jasper Blackburn, Editor of the Homer, Louisiana, Iliad, leaves to-morrow with an order in his pocket to publish the laws and treaties.

It is said that Thomas A. Boyan succeeds Mr. Riddle in the Senate from Delaware.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 1.

The Supreme Court is in session.

The Government holds $107,000,000 in gold.

FOR MEXICO.

NEW YORK, April 1.

The iron war steamer Gen. McCallum designed for the Liberals, sailed yesterday for Tampico, Mexico, with full batteries of Artillery, 10,000 stands of small arms and four tons of powder—She carried several Liberal officers.

MARKETS.

NEW YORK, April 1.

Gold $1.33¼. Cotton quiet at 33 cents.

LIVERPOOL, April 1, P. M.

Cotton has become quite active. The sales were 13,000 bales at 13@13¾ for middling uplands.

The sensation story about Mrs. Dean, formerly Miss Boker, who married her father's coachman in New York, some years ago, turns out to be a pure fiction throughout. Mr. and Mrs. Dean are living at West Hoboken, New York, in a pretty cottage, immersed in that honorable affection which is so often discovered in such humble abodes. Dean is in business, and doing well, and probably Miss Boker might have done worse than marry a coachman.

For the Sentinel.

HOLLYWOOD BAZAAR.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—On the 23rd of April, it is the intention of the Ladies of Richmond to hold a Fair, for the purpose of raising funds to enclose and mark the graves of the Confederate dead, buried at Hollywood Cemetery, near Richmond, Va.

There are now lying in that Cemetery 40,000 Confederate dead. Of that number 15,000 are from North Carolina.

It has been proposed, at this Fair, that each Southern State should have a table, and contributions have been solicited from each State for these tables.

Already large contributions have been sent from every Southern State, except N. C., the only contribution from that State having come from Wilmington.

Have the people, so soon, forgotten their dead? Have they, so soon, forgotten the cause in which these brave men fell?

Let it not be said, that the women of N. C. have ceased to do their duty. Those brave women, who, for five long years, gave up comforts, luxuries, and even necessities, that they might aid in the cause they deemed to be the Just, the Right!

Then let each woman of N. C. give some thing, no matter how simple the article, no matter how small the sum of money.

"Little drops of water,
Little grains of sand,
Make this mighty Ocean,
And this beauteous land."

Then give something. Remember no matter how small.

It is the last duty, the last act of love, we can perform for those brave men.

Contributions for the North Carolina Table should be directed to Mrs. Bradley T. Johnson, or Mrs. Thomas H. Wynne, Richmond, Va., and if marked for the Hollywood Bazaar, and sent by the Southern Express Company, will be sent free of charge.

I beg the different State papers to copy the above.

S. J. A.

Richmond, March 30th.

It rust and weevil do not join the Rads in their efforts to cut off our supplies, such a wheat crop as we will have will be a caution to hungry mortals and speculators in the staff of life.—Rockingham (Va.) Commonwealth.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantages for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known in the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required.—In the simple item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States.—Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.

MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1867.

A SONG.

[From Whittier's New Poem, a "Test on the Beach."]

The harp at Nature's advent strung
Has never ceased to play;
The song the stars of morning sung
Has never died away.

And prayer is made, and praise is given,
By all things near and far;
The ocean looketh up to heaven,
And mirrors every star.

Its waves are kneeling on the strand,
As kneels the human knee
Their white locks bowing to the sand,
The priesthood of the sea!

They feed their glittering treasures forth,
Their gifts of pearl they bring,
And all the listening hills of earth
Take up the song they sing.

The green earth sends her incense up
From many a mountain shrine;
From folded leaf and dewy cup
She pours her sacred wine.

The mists above the morning rills
Rise white as wings of prayer;
The altar curtains of the hills
Are sunset's purple air.

The winds with hymns of praise are loud,
Or low with sobs of pain,
The thunder-organ of the cloud,
The dropping tears of rain.

With drooping head and branches crossed
The twilight forest grieves,
Or speaks with tongues of Pentecost
From all its exultt leaves.

The blue sky is the temple's arch,
Its transept earth and air,
The music of its starry march
The chorus of a prayer.

So Nature keeps the reverent frame
With which her years began,
And all her signs and voices shame
The prayerless heart of man.

We form singular notions of foreign peoples' countries and commodities. I have read somewhere of the landing of a cargo of ice in the tropics. The natives looked at it with wonder. They touched it and were filled with awe. When the ice dissolved under their touch they believed that they had wrought a miracle, and that some demon was in the mystery. Descriptions of snow, frost and winter had great attractions for them.

Dr. Johnson was one day dining at the house of an English lady, when she asked him if he did not think her pudding very good. "Yes," growled the moralist, "it is good enough for hogs." "Shall I help you to another plateful?" was her instant reply.

Jones, who is engaged in the real estate business, was riding along the other day, when he saw this sign: "This farm for sail." Seeing a woman picking up chips at the wood-pile, he politely asked her when the farm was to sail. "Just as the man comes along who can raise the wind."

An Irishman, who was brought up in a police court charged with whipping his scolding wife, claimed that he was guilty of no offence, and that he was acting in strict accordance with an ordinance of the board of health. "Shure, your honor," said he to the Judge, "I was only a bating a nuisance."

"Daughter, why do you not wear your rings?" Because, papa, they hurt me when anybody squeezes my hand." "What business have you, I would like to know, to have your hand squeezed?" "Certainly none; but still, you know, papa, one would like to keep in squeezeable order."

The fellow who was told that the best cure for palpitation of the heart was to stop hugging and kissing the girls, said: "If that is the only remedy which can be proposed, I say, let 'er palpitate."

"Mother," said a little six year old, "can't I go and have my daguerreotype taken?—"No; I guess it isn't worth while." "Well, then, you might let me go and have a tooth pulled; I never go anywhere!"

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers, we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Stellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishments shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote and none others who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER.
President of the Senate pro tem.

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 1st section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United states, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United states against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be, deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.
